Application Form

Food, cooking and the passion with which it is associated are fast becoming topics of enormous interest to the public, and while chefs have less mystery and are more accessible to the consumer than ever before, their skills are still held in extremely high regard. It is through your membership to the South African Chefs Association (SA Chefs), and by default to the World Association of Chefs Societies (WACS), that those skills are nurtured, supported and built upon.

SA Chefs is a non-profit organisation representing in excess 9000 of the country's finest chefs, restaurateurs, educators, learners, culinarians and other interested parties. With established branches across the country and a network that reaches all four corners of the globe.

The SA Chefs website - www.saca.co.za - links local chefs, trainees, hospitality industry players and other interested parties to colleagues information from around the world, while the Centre for Culinary Excellence (CCE) is home to one of the greatest collections in the South African culinary and hospitality industry - and the definitive reference source for industry, both physical and virtual; offering SA Chefs members an all-access pass to a vast collection of books, magazines, videos, multimedia and menus, as well as invitations to attend our annual InfoChef conference, and other educational workshops run throughout the year.

On signing up as a SA Chefs member you will receive a SA Chefs pin, certificate and membership card. You will also have the right to use the designatory letters appropriate to your type of membership, while Corporate and Training Provider members may use the SA Chefs logo stationery and create a logo hyper-link linking your website to ours. Members receive SA Chefs official magazine, SA Chef for 6 issues per year, regular correspondence, updates, industry information and invites in the form of emails and SMS's.

You will have the opportunity to enter local and international competitions, participate in food promotions and events, take part in radio and television interviews and demonstrations, become a member of the National Culinary Team or Junior Team, be selected as a Academy of Chefs members, attend networking and social events countrywide, get involved in charity work; as well as receive a variety of discounts on trade and consumer magazines, knives, jacket. And a WHOLE lot more!

As you can see, from events and competitions, to workshops and demonstrations, SA Chefs is the authority in all things culinary in South Africa. So what are you waiting for? Become a member now!
