6. Presidential Report

The annual report was delivered by SA Chefs President James Khoza. He restates that between 2021 and 2022, members were affected and no governmental help was supplied which led to a loss of revenue. He acknowledges that 75% of members are of vulnerable communities and the association could not compete with basic needs of the affected people, especially with youth unemployment rates. The drop in professional members were critical and due to restricted gatherings, marketing became an issue.

Despite loss of revenue, the Association remained resilient. He touches on the fact that transformation has been a struggle to implement and is actively looking for means to address this. One of the ways is by introducing a younger, more inclusive board. He looks to include more women in future and undertakes to establish a committee of 15 individuals to mentor them and prepare them for 2023.

The President mentions that the following are key competency areas of focus:

Membership
Revenue Generation
National Team

He concludes by stating that he remains optimistic for the new financial year and extends his thanks to all members, honorary members, directors, staff, the outgoing board and auditor.

Coovashan Pillay then presents the Members Portal and provides a presentation illustrating it. The Membership portal is due to be introduced on 01 August 2023. He reports that an online shopping portal will be introduced on the website by end of 2023.

7. Open Discussion

Questions were addressed from members by the directors.

8. Closing
